SPORTS:

Running with Conner

by Stacy Kauffman, Sports Editor, Nightwire Magazine
Photos ©2018 Pittsburgh Steelers/ Karl Roser

Six games into the 2018 season and the Steelers sit atop the AFC North for the first time, albeit with less wins than both Cincinnati and Baltimore. Percentage points ahead with two losses and that stinkin' tie, the black and gold come out of their week seven bye looking to build on their comeback win over the Bengals and set themselves up for a big second half.

Whether or not that second half will include contributions from Le'Veon Bell has yet to be seen. With each rumor of the disgruntled running back's return and subsequent no show, the team has moved further away from talking about their all-pro "teammate." But that doesn't stop fans and media from speculating.

"It's everybody else. In our locker room, we're not even worried about it. It's unfair for me to even talk about him, and he'll have to answer his questions when he wants to," Cameron Heyward said when asked about Bell not showing up for week eight. "But we're not talking about it right now. If he joins along the way, so be it. But it's not fair to everybody in this locker room, and Le'Veon himself, for us to keep talking about it."

The running game has survived his absence, with second year tailback James Conner carrying the load. Through six games, Conner has seven touchdowns and 710 all purpose yards. Despite the numbers, Maurkice Pouncey won't go as far to say the team doesn't need Bell.

"I don't wanna say that, 'cause he's been a great player, he's done a lot of great things, but it's always the next man up, man," Pouncey said. "We always live by that code here, being a Steeler; and he's doing a great job with it. He's excelling at a high rate, and guys on the team are loving it."

It seems it's not just the guys currently on the team, but the absentee Bell supports his understudy as well.

"Anytime I do something good on the field, I always come back to the locker room [to] a text from him saying 'good game' or 'nice move right there,'" Conner told Fox Sports. "Me and Le'Veon are super cool. He's a great person. With him holding out, people are going to call him selfish, but that's not the case at all. It's just business, and that's my guy."

Conner is certainly on a roll after putting together back to back 100-yard rushing games against Atlanta and Cincinnati, with a combined 314 yards from scrimmage. Overall the offense is humming, on pace to have their highest scoring season ever at 28.5 points per game and currently ranking second in passing yards per game with 329.

Will Bell be back at all the season? Nobody knows. But it may not matter. The Steelers are okay running with Conner.

Movie Reviews

NIGHTWIRE - FILM REVIEWS by FIORE

WUNDERLAND

The Battle of the Bulge was fought in Minnesota. Not in history, but for the new film WUNDERLAND, opening this week. The Wild state serves as the background for one of the Allies' most stunning defeats during WWII. And, Minnesota must be very wild for the scenery constantly shifts from heavy snow cover, to a light dusting, to no snow at all without explanation. Editor Katerina Valenti may have been handcuffed if the footage she had was indeed shot at different times. I understand the weather in Minnesota can be fickle, but the weather shifts are noticeable and detract from the narrative. To compound the problem, the boys in the SFX department use a cheesy snow effect that looks like it came from iMovie. Katerina does manage to keep the film to under ninety minutes, which is always a plus.

Written and directed by Luke Schuetzle, WUNDERLAND is a film attempting to tell the story of a major battle, by pinpointing a small band of American soldiers and their individual exploits before the commencement of the main battle. This approach is taken because Schuetzle does not have the budget of the original BATTLE OF THE BULGE, which featured Charles Bronson, Telly Savalas, Henry Fonda, Robert Shaw and Robert Ryan. He is endeavoring to pay homage to the brave soldiers of that encounter, and to make a strong statement about the power of faith. His message is sometimes fuzzy and delayed. While the film credits dub the movie WUNDERLAND, the press releases changed the name to THE BATTLE OF THE BULGE: WUNDERLAND. No reason I can see for doing this, save for clarification.

Steven Luke plays Lt. Cappa. He heads a seasoned, successful squad of men with the help of Sgt. Rock, played by Mikeal Burgin. They just returned from a grueling assignment, but when Major McCulley, played by Tom Berenger, orders them to the front to hold a weakened line filled with green recruits, they are quick to respond. What follows is a set of minor though seemingly impossible encounters with an advancing German army, gearing for a major offensive. There are no great war confrontations. Most encounters center on Cappa and Rock singlehandedly defeating massive amounts of Germans. The Americans duck when someone opens fire. Apparently, the Germans stand straight up and look confused until they are mowed down.

Berenger adds a bit of gravitas to WUNDERLAND. He is far from THE SUBSTITUTE, where he was a fighting machine. His time on screen is basically sitting behind a desk, or as a passenger in a Jeep, spouting stereotype comments. Burgin is solid as Rock (pun intended). His is one of the few characters digestible in the smorgasbord. Luke is miscast. He never is convincing as the danger charging lieutenant. He looks like he would be more comfortable shopping on Rodeo Drive. It's a bit obvious the two central characters are patterned after Rick Jason and Vic Morrow from TV's COMBAT series. Rick Jason played Lt. Hanley. He was a suave, but dangerous army man. WUNDERLAND tries to mold Luke in the same fashion, but it's just not kosher. Burgin is a watered down version of Morrow's Sgt. Saunders.

Peter Wigland is cinematographer. His shots are uneven as scenes shift color temperatures indiscriminately.

Where WUNDERLAND does succeed is in showing how little, almost personal skirmishes become an integral part of the war. While this band of soldiers knows it's no match for the advancing German army, it is determined to delay their approach, allowing the Allies to regroup and retreat. There are over ten minutes of graphics, after the end credits, honoring the twenty men who earned the Medal of Honor during the final conflict. There is also a scene at the very end that, while it reinforces the concept of faith, really makes no sense.

SPOILER ALERT: All through the film, Lt. Cappa finds himself in life threatening situations. Each time he manages to survive, and quickly grasps the crucifix he wears around his neck. At the film's end, he is standing in front of a German firing squad. The film fades to black, and the end credits roll. The concluding scene has Lt. Cappa rising from a snow dune. It's like the Chewbacca Defense – it makes no sense.

The script contains almost every cliché from every war movie ever written. The cheesy dialogue, combined with the average acting and technical aspects, hurt WUNDERLAND as a worthy war epic.

VENOM

I had a smile on my face the entire time I watched VENOM. If you go to the movies for escapism and entertainment of a high quality, this movie is your cup of tea. Everything in this film works. The characters, the action, the story and the SFX. All are exceptional.

For the uninitiated, Venom is a Marvel Comics villain. He is nasty; but the comic fans love him so much, he's transformed into an anti-hero. This is similar to the roles some wrestlers play on SMACKDOWN.

Tom Hardy is Eddie Brock/Venom and is a true standout. He portrays the newspaper nerd gaining the powers of Venom, and the moral struggle it causes with aplomb. Riz Ahmed portrays a Elon Musk caricature, and given recent news headlines, he is spot on.

The real stars of VENOM are the SFX guys. They are in top form. The SFX are spectacular. Look especially for the climactic battle between Venom and Riot, and for Venom's confrontation with the SWAT team.

See this film in the theaters. Pay no attention to the barrage of articles in the trades panning this film. They are the product of a Disney smear campaign. The Spider-Man Universe is still owned by Sony, and Disney is very angry about that. Most of the articles panning VENOM, are propagated by the Disney PR machine.

VENOM is worth repeated viewings and would make a fine addition to your home video collection. It wins the FIST OF FIORE AWARD for 2018, exemplifying excellence in film entertainment. This is why we go to the movies.

JOHNNY ENGLISH STRIKES AGAIN

I recommend this film highly. The reason is simple; there are so few comedies nowadays that can stand the test of time. Many are centered on political or cultural events that have no bearing several years down the road. Others rely on bathroom humor, which fades after the first viewing. JOHNNY ENGLISH STRIKES AGAIN is excellent for an evening of laughs. This is good old fashioned comedy. It will be as funny ten years hence, as it is now.

Most of the comedy relies on star Rowan Atkinson. He is someone who can create ripples of laughter with a mere look. He is in top form here. Supporting cast includes Olga Kurylenko, Ben Miller and Emma Thompson.

English is retired from MI7 and teaching in a country prep school. Someone hacks the MI7 data base, exposing all its agents. Then, the hacker targets all the computerized services in England. To find the culprit and stop him, the spy organization must go off the grid. Enter English, who retired before the digital age. The general theme of the new digital age vs. the old fashioned methods runs throughout, without being so pompous as to declare a winner. The villain is reminiscent of Elliott Carver in TOMORROW NEVER DIES. There is a nod to Peter Sellers in THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES AGAIN, as the movies not only share a similar title, but a similar ending.

Two scenes had me rolling in the aisle: one with virtual reality; the other with the little green energy pill. The cinematography on the VR scene is particularly good, thanks to Florian Hoffmeister.

This movie is delightfully funny. It is an old-fashioned style comedy; the kind that endures. The finale is a bit weaker than the previous two films in the series, but overall this is a decidedly fine comedy. Be sure to add this to your must see list.

HALLOWEEN

The concept of throwing out all the sequels to the original, and continuing the story with this one is good. Most horror franchises die slowly after the first. The sequels to John Carpenter's original HALLOWEEN, were lame studio rip-offs. This one is good.

Jamie Lee Curtis is best known for her role as Laurie Strode. She plays it in a manic sense, much like Linda Hamilton played Sarah Connor in TERMINATOR 2.

This script is smart, sticking to the original concept and characters, and tossing in a bit of humor as well. The only flaw is the transformation of the doctor. It really makes no sense, and simply plays a small, but unnecessary homage to one of the now moot sequels.

The sequencing and cinematography in HALLOWEEN are spectacular. It makes this movie a must see on the big screen. Watch for a segment involving "flashlight" photography, where the viewers have the point of view of the flashlight. It makes a standard chase scene quite notable.

Of course, the music is John Carpenter's original theme, with multiple variations. The soundtrack is a keeper.

The movie captures all the elements that made the original a classic. It's more intense, than horror related. The addition of a few humorous anecdotes are well placed. Many scenes pay homage to the first, and that keeps the movie grounded. Don't miss this one.

BAD TIMES AT THE EL ROYALE

This is a thriller that has everything going for it; a solid story, great acting, fine cinematography and a most excellent soundtrack. The acting is first rate. It's tough to beat Jeff Bridges as he is clearly one of Hollywood's best; and Chris Hemsworth is really stretching out of his Thor pattern. He has a dance sequence sure to please the ladies.

The script by Drew Goddard is solid. It begins with a vignette from a decade ago, and then shifts to a fateful night where seven strangers, each with a hidden purpose, meet, through circumstance, at a closing hotel. It is cleverly written with a spicing of humorous one-liners.

It is apparent Goddard fashioned this movie in the style of Quentin Tarantino, complete with grindhouse graphics opening each scene, and sequences designed to reveal the plot, but not necessarily in chronological order.

The cinematography is great. Sheamus McGarvey is one of the finest in Tinseltown. The soundtrack, with the exception of Deep Purple's HUSH, HUSH, is comprised of classic Motown hits.

Where it fails is in the editing. It's too long. Easily 30 minutes could be trimmed, making a most noble film. The problem is with Editor Lisa Lassik. She's made the film too long, clocking in at 2 hours and 15 minutes. Easily 30 minutes could be edited, making the film tighter and more intense.

Brace yourself for a long movie. Once you have, you'll enjoy this film noir 'who done it' immensely. Most of the unnecessary footage occurs in the opening reels, but the rest of the trip is worthwhile. You'll want to see this on the big screen. It adds an engaging aura TV won't provide.

A CROOKED SOMEBODY 10/4

At what cost fame? That's the acorn sprouting into a thrilling oak that is A CROOKED SOMEBODY. Folks, this is an excellent thriller, bolstered by a smartly written script and superior acting. Trevor White helms the project, and he assembles an entertaining and enjoyable who-done-it.

Rich Sommer plays Michael Vaughn. He is excellent in the part and worthy of Best Actor consideration. Clifton Collins is Nathan, the antagonist and Joanne Froggatt is Chelsea, Michael's assistant. Paul Ben-Victor, best known for his role on SyFy Network's THE INVISIBLE MAN, makes a cameo as Detective Zimmer. Veterans Ed Harris and Amy Madigan also make cameo appearances.

Despite coming from a family of pastors, Michael opts to enter the world of physic entertainers. His dream is to be a bigger TV psychic than John Edwards. Together with Chelsea, who serves as his agent and audience foil, they book a series of smaller venues, performing a scam and promoting Vaughn's treatise on communicating with the dead. Sadly, through the deception, Michael feels he is doing good by bringing closure to those suffering from lost ones.

Enter Nathan. After attending one of Michael's psychic readings, he is convinced Michael can bring him forgiveness for a crime he committed nearly two decades ago. He kidnaps Michael to force his services under the fear of death. Rather than fear, Michael sees an opportunity to springboard into the limelight as a TV psychic, by playing off Nathan's guilt.

A CROOKED SOMEBODY is smartly written by Andrew Zilch. His story is fast-paced. The tempo is augmented by Editor Craig Dewey, who keeps the film at break neck speed. Robert Lam utilizes smart camera angles, much in the style of Golden Era film noir.

I liked the ride A CROOKED SOMEBODY provided. The movie kept my interest and was enjoyable. It's a fine addition to the thriller genre. Experienced thriller viewers may be able to discern the conclusion, but most will make it to the final reel still guessing; and isn't that the mark of a good thriller?

Winter Wonderland of Beers

by Brian Mayer

There aren't many people that say winter is their favorite season. Fall and Spring tend to take the cake when it comes to the general consensus, but that doesn't mean there aren't some die-hard winter fans that get extra excited when the first snowflakes fall.

A great way to not only survive winter, but learn to love it is to check out all the seasonal offerings from your favorite breweries. From stouts to hoppy IPAs, to the titular winter warmers...there's a lot to love in the world of craft beer when the temperature drops.

You may not have made a Christmas list since you were young, but this list might make you start back up again, no Hills catalog required.

Bell's Brewery is no stranger to seasonal beers, and their ever-popular Winter White Ale is making a comeback once again this year. An odd entry into our list, this beer is a wheat ale fermented with Belgian yeast to give it subtle banana and clove flavors with absolutely no spices added, and at 5% ABV it's very easy to drink and very refreshing.

When it comes to fall beers it's hard to find one that's more universally loved than Bell's Brewery Best Brown Ale. With hints of caramel and cocoa, this well-balanced 5.8% ABV beer has a deep malt body that's balanced out nicely by the generous helping of American hops.

Founded in 1987, Anderson Valley has grown into a varied and respected brewery that produces everything from the tried and true styles to the wild and interesting Highway 128 series. As with every winter season AVBC is once again releasing their Winter Solstice, their take on the classic winter warmer style. At 6.9% ABV, this beer pours a translucent copper with a thick and creamy head. Expect to taste sweet malt and caramel as well as some nutty tastes in the background.

Hailing from Milton, Delaware is none other than Dogfish Head Craft Brewery. Known for their weird and wild beers that always seem to work surprisingly well, their love of

*Master Distributor of Craft, Import Beers & Sodas.
Proudly distributed in Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania.*

beersince1933.com

collaboration could be argued as second to none, too.

A great example of this love of collaboration paired with a penchant for experimentation is their Pennsylvania Tuxedo. This 8.5% ABV beer is a pale ale that's brewed with Pennsylvania spruce tips and is a homage to the flannel-suited hunters that fill the woods of north-central Pennsylvania. Brewed in partnership with Woolrich clothing company, the beer features a grassy citrus kick with undertones of spruce, the source of which were hand-picked by Dogfish Head themselves.

If you look halfway between 60 Minute and 90 Minute you can find a very unique beer in the form of 75 Minute IPA. This 7.5% ABV beer blends two of the most popular beers from Dogfish Head and adds in some maple syrup to naturally carbonate it. Dry-hopped with whole-leaf Cascade hops, 75 Minute is crisp and bitter while hanging on to a soft and velvety mouthfeel. Best of all, this beer is now available in 12-oz bottles this year, making it much more easy to enjoy.

It wouldn't be a holiday season without the wild and wonderful Mad Elf from Troegs. Coming in at a surprising 11% ABV, Mad Elf uses pilsner, Munich, and chocolate malts paired with spicy Belgian yeast and cherries to make a rich and flavorful beer that might possibly drive you mad, too. Mad Elf is possibly the perfect beer for the holidays.

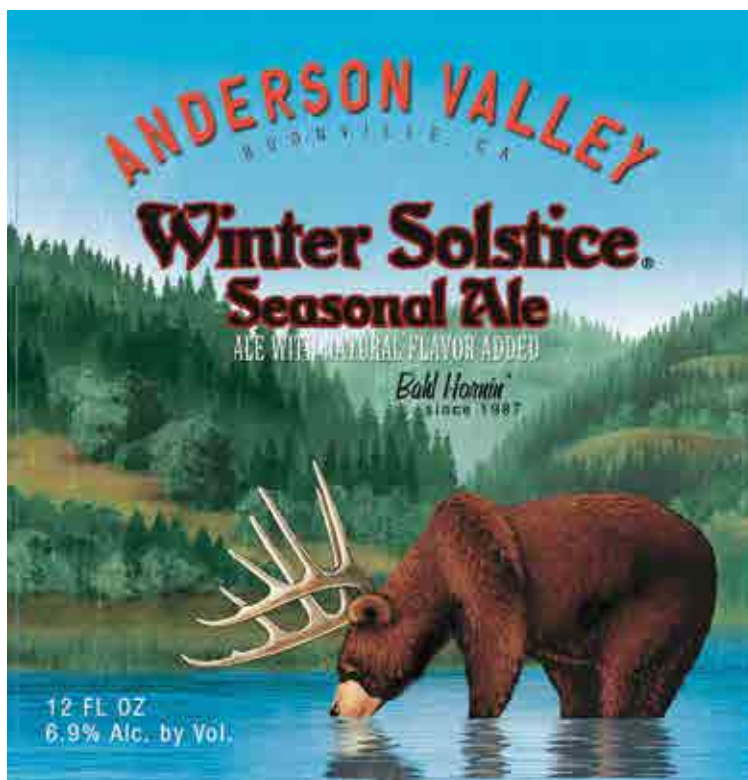

Returning this season is Troegs' Blizzard of Hops winter IPA. This 6.4% ABV beer has notes of pine and citrus in it as well as a solid malt backbone. If you're tired of spiced and flavored beers this holiday season, Blizzard of Hops is one beer you can't miss.

In a bid to clear the snow and warm things up for everyone in Pittsburgh, Scott Smith from East End Brewing makes Snow Melt Winter Ale each year, and even though this substantial 7% ABV beer helps, the snow still seems to stick. This mahogany red ale has a unique malt character and a bright hop flavor that has hints of pine. This beer will help keep you warm and while we all can't wait for it to warm up, at least we have this to clear the snow for us.

While it's typically good advice to steer clear of Johnny Law when drinking, Erie Brewing releases their Ol' Red Cease & Desist each year, going against that advice. Ol' Red is an up-front powerful ale that makes its own set of laws about what a winter beer should be. Coming in at 10.1% ABV, this beer has a balanced mix of oak, spices, dark fruits, and even a little caramel. While the alcohol and flavors are up-front about their intentions, this beer finishes smooth and easy to drink.

Located in...you guessed it...Lancaster, PA, Lancaster Brewing Company loves the winter season as much as might be possible, and they showcase that love with their Winter Warmer Ale. This 8.9% ABV beer skips the spices found in most winter beers to give you a full-bodied beer that features a monster of a malt bill along with British and American hops to give this beer a balance that's not often found in a winter ale. Classified as an Old Ale, Winter Warmer will do as its name implies, and it'll do it with style.

Originally brewed in 2005, Jack Frost Winter Warmer Ale from North Country Brewing is a great example of what a winter warmer should be. Coming in at 7.7% ABV, this malty beer focuses on the malt body, allowing only enough spice into the beer to hint at their presence.

You'll find some hop flavor in Jack Frost, but not much of the bitterness you'd expect along with it. In short, this is one great malty beer that uses a touch of spice to give you a beer that's perfect for a cold winter night, and best of all it's available in cans!

For those of us that love their Belgian-style beers, Smuttynose Brewing has long held their Winter Ale as the perfect beer for winter, and while they still feel this way, this 7.5% Belgian Dubbel has a new name Single Digit Dubbel for the beer we love with a few additional ABV that before, and it's still brewed with a special Trappist ale yeast as it has always been. This beer features fruity aromas and flavors as well as a soft hop background. Mellow yet surprisingly complex. The perfect brew for the winter months when you're looking for something different.

Don't worry, I'll help you out with the pronunciation of the amazing Xocoveza Mocha Stout from Stone Brewing so you're ready to ask for it the next time you're out. Pronounced "zo-co-VA(long A)-za, this 8.1% ABV beer is making its triumphant return to shelves this season thanks to countless fans requesting its return, and for good reason. This beer is Stone's take on Mexican hot chocolate that's brewed with cocoa, coffee, pasilla peppers, vanilla, cinnamon, and nutmeg. If you missed this beer the last time it was available, make sure to catch it while you can, you won't be disappointed.

Cooler weather loves darker beer. It's a fact.

Bigger, darker beers are the perfect companion to longer nights and lower temps. Storm King Stout from Victory Brewing Co. knows this fact and is here to help. The 9.1% ABV American imperial stout uses whole flower hops and three different varieties of hops to give you a big, hearty beer that has notes of espresso, dark chocolate, alcohol warmth, as well as an impressive dose of bitterness.

Victory Brewing out of Downingtown PA has quite the catalog of beers available throughout the year, but they wait until the winter months to release some of their best beers. A great example of this is their Winter Cheers. This 6.7% ABV wheat beer uses Tettnang and Citra hops to make a hoppy wheat beer that's ready to warm you up and give some winter cheer to spread.

Wrapping things up is Saugatuck Brewing Company and their seasonal Stout Pack. Fall and Winter are perfect for big, dark beers. The roasted flavor of the toasted malt and the often higher ABVs all make for a perfect way to spend those long, cold nights as we all wait for warmer weather.

SBC couldn't agree more, which is why they're offering their seasonal Stout Pack. This 12-pack variety includes 3 bottles each of Beam Me Up, Stouty, Darker Than Your Soul Stout, Neapolitan Milk Stout, and Blueberry Maple Stout. If making decisions isn't your thing, then this Stout Pack is perfect for you.

Shhh! Don't tell anyone, but the best-kept secret on the pristine Gulf Coast could arguably be Navarre Beach!

As you approach the 'Welcome to Navarre Beach' sign right before you cross the Navarre Beach Causeway over the Santa Rosa Sound, you'll read the words: "Florida's Most Relaxing Place". You might brush off its claim and say to yourself, "Of course it is; it's on the hypnotic Gulf Coast", but don't dismiss it too quickly, as there is plenty of evidence to back it up.

The very moment you drive past the sign to reach the barrier island on which Navarre Beach sits, you'll know, without a doubt, that the claim of being 'Florida's Most Relaxing Place' isn't a mere claim at all; it is reality. As you approach this stunning beach, all of your cares of the day will instantly melt away, and a calming factor--a mixture of contentment and a sense of community--will hit your soul. (Tip: The causeway bridge, which connects Navarre to Navarre Beach, is only about one-mile long, and makes it extremely easy to reach additional restaurants and activities across the sound, if you can manage to tear yourself away from this unforgettable beach community).

Initially, you may notice that the people who live and work in this 'bedroom community' are truly patient and kind; they experience life to the fullest, but it's not a fast-paced lifestyle, at least not for them. These residents also have a deep respect and love for nature and for preserving it for future generations. One final —refreshingly surprising, too-- point is that Navarre Beach is not as packed with beachgoers and partiers during spring break and summertime, which runs counter to what you might experience in other Gulf Coast towns. (Tip: During off-season, there are even fewer people and may be the prime time to visit if you want to feel like you own the place).

Navarre Beach, which is the beach neighborhood of Navarre, straddles 12-miles and is protected by some of the most spectacular natural barriers in America. The breathtaking Gulf Islands National Seashore is to its west, and Navarre Beach County Park and Elgin Airforce Base (a buffer zone you just can't beat) is to the east. While these federal and county dominions help keep Navarre cushioned from the bustling chaos on other parts of the Florida coast, this one-of-a-kind northwest Florida Panhandle community is growing with both nature enthusiasts and tourists. Those who have a vested interest in Navarre want to preserve its uniqueness and keep intense commercialization at bay. (Fun Fact: Many of the scenes in Jaws 2 were filmed off the coast of Navarre and Navarre Beach).

Not only does Navarre have everything you need to make a perfect vacation, but the experiences offered here are above and beyond what you might get anywhere else on the Gulf Coast. Depending on where you stay, all of the sites (and sights) are literally walking distance from each other. To begin with, you have entered the home of the longest fishing pier in all of Florida! A visit to the Navarre Beach Pier is a must; it only costs $1 on weekdays, and is free on many weekends. This is the perfect place to watch dolphins or cownose rays swim by and pelicans fly ahead. The Pier is also the home of dozens upon dozens of anglers catching fish from the pier. Even if you are not a fisherman, be sure to walk all the way to the end to see them in action or just to watch the dolphins.

Want to see sea turtles? One of the best places to spot them is on the sand amid the grass at the foot of the pier. Be sure to visit the Navarre Beach Sea Turtle Conservation Center; it's here you can see Sweet Pea, the resident rescued sea turtle, and learn all about how she was rescued after being wrapped in fishing line (Sweet Pea survived the necessary amputation of her left front flipper). You will definitely leave here with a better understanding of the importance of sea turtle—and marine life-- conservation.

Speaking of sea life.....One of the best experiences to be had is by hopping aboard Lucky Chucky Charters. Captain Chuck has been fishing the inshore and offshore waters in and around Navarre since he could walk. In addition to his great knowledge of those waters, he knows where 'the honey holes' are located, and practically guarantees that you will hook several fish with him. Captain Chuck could be the nicest human being out on the water, and he's patient with first-timers of all ages (plus he will clean and bag the fish for you).

Captain Chuck is also a big fan of catch-and-release (so that younger generations can enjoy the bounty of fish and learn about conservation), plus his personal history and knowledge is fascinating. He can take you in the Santa Rosa Sound or anywhere around these parts for any time frame you heart desires. Once you board his boat you will want to return trip after trip because it will be an unforgettable experience.

Want to bike, kayak, paddle board, surf or hop on a motor scooter? Then head straight to Sage Paddle Company, a family-owned business. Sage began her business in Navarre at the tender age of eleven when she saw the need and began a grass roots effort going door-to-door to hand out her business cards. Her dad loaned her $5,000 to get started, and this thriving business has paid her investment back ten-fold and in more ways than one. Sage, along with her mother, father and an endless list of volunteers, make this business what it is today. There are no words that could justifiably describe the sense of family and the community support that emerges from Sage Paddle Company. You'll be missing out if you don't use their rentals to connect with stunning Navarre and its natural resources.

Want to try your hand at surfing? The surf in this breathtaking area allows for perfect wave action for surfers! Yes, surfers! This immediate area is a hot spot for both those trying their hand at surfing for the first time and those who are already well-versed in the water sport. The sand shelf beneath the surface along with the massive Navarre Beach Pier creates the unique wave action for surfing Navarre style, and of course, the view of the coastline and the sugar-white sand and hypnotic waves cannot be beat.

Want to see more wildlife up-close? Head to the Panhandle Butterfly House in Navarre where you will have the opportunity to witness native Florida butterflies fluttering about as they feed on local plants amid a colorful scene of flowers. You will also see hungry caterpillars munching away, and you can watch a butterfly emerge from its chrysalis and learn how to create your own butterfly garden. Depending on environmental conditions, the Butterfly House is open seasonally from May through August. (Big Tip: If you are visiting during the month of Hungry? Windjammers on the Pier Restaurant & Bar is a must! Not only does this restaurant have outside dining right on the gorgeous beach, it does so at the foot of the iconic Pier; one could argue this is the best location on Navarre Beach. Chef Johnny Key--who is originally from the Bahamas-- got most of his cooking influence while in Korea, and he serves mouthwatering creations that will make your taste buds smile! Chef Johnny will tell you that he lives, eats, and dreams food, and his tight-knit team exudes that same passion. Make an appoint to meet Chef Johnny; you'll then have a better understanding as to why the food tastes so good in this beach-side eatery. (Tip: Be sure to order Chef's Gumbo, Crab Cakes, and Seafood Tacos, some of Chef Johnny's favorites and top recommendations). (Activity Tip: Either before or after you eat, borrow a free volleyball from the gift shop, and head out to the nets right in front of the restaurant.

If you are looking for a casual, yet chic or romantic dining experience (also with amazing views), head down Gulf Boulevard to the Navarre Beachhouse Bar and Grille. Here you can dine on the side patio or in front of the Beachhouse where the beachfront fire pits are lit at sunset and continue through the night. The fire pits are surrounded by comfy chairs where you can sit and enjoy a hand-crafted cocktail or cold brew overlooking the beach. (Tip: The fresh Blackberry Margarita is delicious!). Navarre Beachhouse Bar and Grille specializes in Gulf-to-table seafood and succulent steaks cooked-to-perfection, and there is an array of other great menu choices; they also serve breakfast and lunch on the patio and indoors. (Tip: Must tries: The West Indies Ellinor (marinated lump crab), Sunset Berry Salad, Filet Mignon or Ribeye, and their Gulf to Table Fish). Be sure to finish it all off with the Salted Caramel Cheese Cake.

Want a great Navarre hot-spot for a delicious breakfast or lunch? Head to Alphy's Catfish House on Highway 87. While their Southern-style Fried Catfish reigns here, so does its mouthwatering breakfast! Their breakfast menu is extensive, and while everything is delicious-- including their array of Three Egg Omelets and their Country Fried Steak-- a 'must try' is their homemade Cinnamon Roll Pancakes or Cinnamon Roll Waffles. Also, you will never have to ask the waiter or waitress for more coffee because they are constantly filling your cup with their hot delicious brew. (Fun Fact: Alphy's is a dream come true for Al, his wife Phyllis and their kids who are all work at this local establishment). Be sure to meet Al and his wife when you visit; you will absolutely fall in love with them!

One of the best accommodations of which to make your home base could be Summerwind Resort by Saltwater Vacations. This resort is located in a prime spot next to the iconic Pier (the longest fishing pier in all of Florida) which is a stones-throw away from your accommodations and is sits right on the sugar-white sandy beach. This is not a typical view you can get anywhere else on the ; its view Gulf Coast; it truly offers the best of both worlds.

Not only can you walk to the famous Pier from Saltwater Vacations' Summerwind , but you can also to stroll to Windjammers, the volleyball nets, and other attractions right from this resort. All of the Summerwind accommodations face the emerald waters of the gulf and have balconies. Guests can enjoy the complimentary beach chairs and umbrellas, a fitness center and, for your added pleasure, three pools and three hot tubs overlooking the coastline.

The resort is also a prime spot to watch one of nature's most surreal scenes: Pods of dolphins regularly swim in the near distance of this beachfront resort and the neighboring The Pier. You can watch this magic from your very own balcony, so bring your binoculars. (Big Tip: This immediate area is known for its consistent daily sightings of the breathtaking dolphins and other wildlife, all of which attracts conservationists from around the country).

You can watch people strolling on the pier and the early morning risers carrying their fishing gear out before the sunrise. You can also walk down the pier at any time because it's so close to your beachfront accommodations. The Navarre Beach Pier is also a perfect spot from which to watch the most beautiful sunrises and sunsets, and that's because it straddles atop the emerald waters more than five-thousand feet into the gulf and stands thirty-feet high atop the water!

There is much more to be discovered in Navarre and, rest assured, when you begin to drive off of this unmatched barrier island beach you will know without a doubt that this oasis has delivered what it promised. Navarre is 'Florida's Most Relaxing Place', and add to that claim 'Florida's Best Kept Secret'. How do you encapsulate one of the best beach getaways ever? Head to Navarre and find out for yourself --you will not be able to get enough of this place.

Pittsburgh Whiskey & Fine Spirits Festival

The Pittsburgh Whiskey & Fine Spirits Festival, presented by Fine Wine & Good Spirits, was held on Friday, October 26, at the Rivers Casino on the North Shore.

This year's event due to the close proximity to Halloween, the festival was themed "Monster Bash," and guests and vendors came dressed in spooky, scary and silly Halloween costumes. Lots of attendees came dressed as themselves which is also encouraged. Everyone had so much fun!

Festival attendees had the opportunity to taste and learn more about various brands of whiskey and other liquors, and enjoy a full dinner buffet at Rivers Casino which was a fabulous array of meats, pastas, salads, vegetables. The Rivers Casino buffet has carving stations and food for everyone with ethnic and conventional choices, coupled with a salad bar and dessert section. Rivers Casino the best buffet in the city! Yummy delicious!

$5 of each ticket sold benefited the festival's 2018 Charity Partner – The First Tee of Pittsburgh.

If you missed this year's event, you must mark your calendars and plan to attend this next one, this is one event that you will definitely want to attend year after year. What a fabulous, educational, fun event!

Phipps Conservatory Marks Completion of Palm Court Restoration Commemorating 125 Years

Guests can experience Phipps largest glasshouse room newly renovated with over 5,000 panes of glass, crowning ogee, fleur-de-lis cresting and ornate finials.

Phipps Conservatory and Botanical Gardens' Palm Court renovation reached its final, historic milestone today with the installation of the final pane of glass, completing this major restoration. Guests can see this transformation firsthand upon entering Phipps, experiencing history in the making. Pittsburgh Mayor William Peduto joined Phipps President and CEO Richard Piacentini to announce the completion of the Palm Court renovation, commemorating 125 years. Mayor Peduto declared the month of October 2018 "Phipps Conservatory and Botanical Gardens 125th Anniversary Celebration Month" in a city proclamation, and construction crew members placed the final pane of glass on Palm Court during the dedication ceremony and unveiling.

The Palm Court restoration is part of Phipps' 125th anniversary commemoration, protecting and sustaining its treasured beauty for generations to come. Palm Court is part of the original nine-room glasshouse established in 1893 and is located at the heart of the conservatory. This architectural gem is the first room that guests experience at Phipps, inspiring them with breathtaking plants, floral displays, special exhibits and renowned collections.

Dedicated architectural and construction teams replaced Palm Court's wooden ribs with aluminum ribs, meticulously extruded to match the original profile from 1893. They also replaced over 5,000 panes of glass using advanced state-of-the-art glass technology.

Additionally, after over 80 years, Phipps returned the historic ogee crest to the exterior of Palm Court, restoring this crowning architectural feature to the Pittsburgh glasshouse for the first time since 1937. The term "ogee" describes the distinctive architectural molding and arch curve formation that tops the glasshouse, returning its stunning skyline profile to its original design. Seven aluminum trusses form the ogee, filled in with aluminum ribbing and over 700 panes of glass.

Stunning architectural features also include decorative new fleur-de-lis cresting and towering 8-foot tall finials. The ridge fleur-de-lis cresting is a classic, striking element found in Victorian glasshouse architecture, with each distinct shape standing between 2 and 5 feet tall, totaling 90 feet in length atop the ogee. The renovation process included the addition of new color-changing LED lights which illuminate Palm Court, making Phipps' upcoming Winter Flower Show and Light Garden the biggest, brightest yet.

Guests can join in the 125th commemoration by sponsoring a pane of glass in Palm Court, including those located in the iconic ogee. Panes of glass can be purchased on Phipps' interactive website — hipps.conservatory.org/restore — by phone at 412/622-6915, ext. 6054, or in person at the conservatory, with glass panes beginning at a gift of $100. Supporters will receive a frameable printed certificate with pane coordinates for their selected section, making this a memorable gift or tribute. Donors will be acknowledged through a special recognition display in Palm Court.

Fall Flower Show: 125 Years of Wonder takes guests on a spectacular journey to experience some of the most magical, whimsical and beloved moments from Phipps' history. Phipps' celebrated chrysanthemums will bloom by the thousands to colorfully accentuate nostalgic displays inspired by different periods of Phipps history, from the 1890s to the 1960s and beyond in this memorable new show opening Sat., Oct. 13 on display for just three weeks!

Garden Railroad: Memories in Motion travels along the tracks of time, showing the dramatic transformation of the Conservatory from its very beginnings to modern-day standing as a global leader in horticultural display and sustainability — all through the magic of interactive, meticulously detailed garden-scale models — opening Sat., Oct. 13.

Pittsburgh Public Theater Presents Sweat

Set in Reading, PA, Lynn Nottage's play tells the story of what happens to a group of friends when their union jobs are in jeopardy.

Told with powerful realism and sharp humor, Pittsburgh Public Theater presents the Pittsburgh premiere of Sweat, by Lynn Nottage, winner of the 2017 Pulitzer Prize for Drama. Directed by Justin Emeka, Sweat runs November 8 – December 9, 2018 at the O'Reilly Theater, Pittsburgh Public Theater's home in the heart of Downtown's Cultural District.

Sweat begins with a quick scene in 2008 where two young men, Chris (Ananias J. Dixon) and Jason (Patrick Cannon), meet their parole officer (Monteze Freeland). The play then jumps to 2000 in a bar where Stan (Tony Bingham) is pouring drinks for his regulars: Cynthia (Tracey Conyer Lee), Jessie (Michelle Duffy), and Tracey (Amy Landis). For years these best friends have spent their days together on the factory floor at Olstead's Steel Tubing, and many nights partying at this after work hangout. Also around the bar are Cynthia's estranged husband, Brucie (Kevin Mambo) and the busboy, Oscar (Jerreme Rodriguez).

But soon the status quo at Olstead's begins to erode and changes at the plant cause a rift among the longtime friends. It's also time to renegotiate the union contracts and the company is pushing for deep concessions. As the play speeds forward, Nottage ratchets up the tension and by the end she pulls all the story's threads together in an electrifying conclusion.

The design team for Sweat is Michael Schweikardt (Scenic), Robert C.T. Steele (Costumes), Sherrice Mojgani (Lighting), and Zach Moore (Sound). Rick Sordelet is the Fight Director, Fred Noel is the Production Stage Manager, and Adrienne Wells is the Assistant Stage Manager. Casting is by Pat McCorkle.

About the Playwright

Nottage researched Sweat through extensive interviews with manufacturing employees in Reading, PA. As she gathered their very human stories, she also noted the shift from industrial to service economy in the United States. When the Pulitzer Committee awarded their 2017 prize to Sweat, they described the play as, "A nuanced yet powerful drama that reminds audiences of the stacked deck still facing workers searching for the American Dream." Other plays by Nottage include Mlima's Tale; By the Way, Meet Vera Stark; Ruined (Pulitzer Prize); Intimate Apparel; Fabulation, or the Re-education of Undine; Crumbs from the Table of Joy; Las Meninas; Mud, River, Stone; Por'knockers; POOF!

How about Bourbon Barrel Chardonnay and Cabernet from Robert Mondavi.

Weather is getting colder.. eating heavier foods.. drinking dark spirit cocktails,etc.

Food & Wine Magazine :

Riding on the coattails of bourbon's success, we saw a great opportunity to combine our traditional California winemaking with the unique aging process that comes from used bourbon barrels to offer consumers a bolder, richer [wine]," Jason Dodge, senior director of winemaking for Robert Mondavi Private Selection, told VinePair. As recent beer-wine hybrids have proven, what's good for the Goose can also be good for the gander.

Our Bourbon Barrel-aged Chardonnay—the world's first and only Chardonnay aged in bourbon barrels—reflects the expressive character of this truly original approach to aging. We craft this wine from cool, coastal fruit in Monterey County, before aging it in a combination of new and used bourbon barrels. The new barrels give the wine its rich, toasty flavor. The used barrels—selected from a renowned Kentucky distillery—offer notes of vanilla and baking spices from the fine bourbon that once filled these casks.

Intense aromas of ripe pineapple and toasted coconut emerge from the glass, framed by hints of toasted marshmallow and vanilla bean custard. A rich and creamy palate of grilled pineapple, lemon custard, graham cracker, toffee and vanilla bean is balanced by bright acidity. Subtle undertones of toasty oak and baking spices round out the lingering finish on this decadent Chardonnay.

Robert Mondavi Pvt Sel Bourbon Brl
Chardonnay 750 ML 2041

We craft this richly textured Cabernet Sauvignon with Monterey County fruit, picked at the peak of ripeness in our coastal vineyards. In a truly original alternative to traditional aging, we set aside a portion of the blend to age in a mix of new and used bourbon barrels. The new barrels give the wine its deep undertones of toasted oak. The used barrels—selected from a renowned Kentucky distillery—exude notes of vanilla and dried herbs, hinting at the fine bourbon that once graced these casks. The result is a bold, flavorful wine, unlike any other Cabernet.

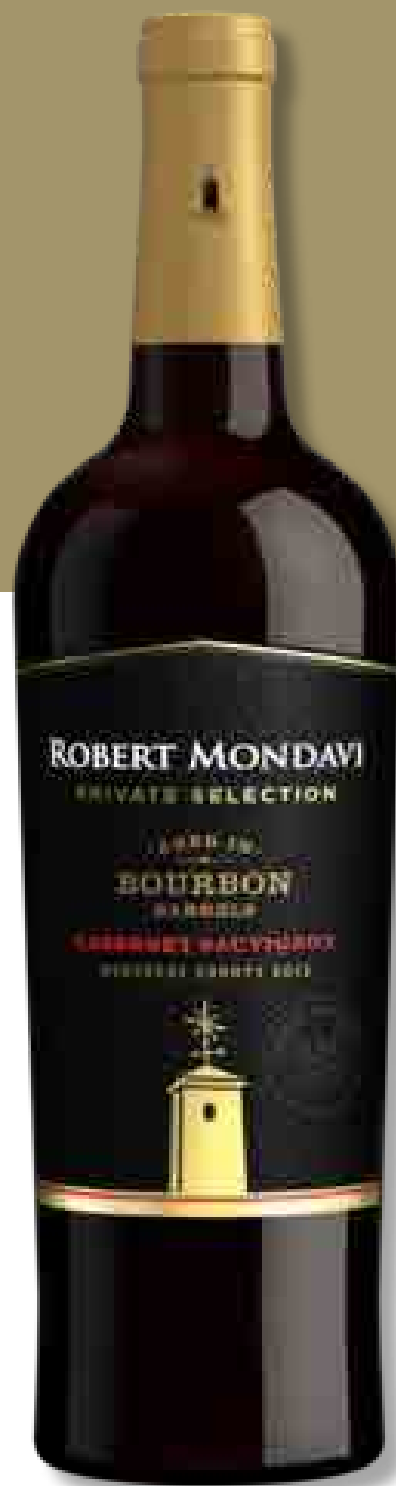

Layered and complex, our Bourbon Barrel-aged Cabernet Sauvignon leaps from the glass with aromas of blackberry cobbler, graham cracker, brown sugar, milk chocolate, coffee and smoke. A palate of blueberry pie, praline, sweet vanilla custard, caramel and mocha is framed by soft, chewy tannins and a hint of toasted oak on the lingering finish.

2015 Bourbon Barrel-aged Cabernet Sauvignon, Monterey County—awarded DOUBLE GOLD, San Francisco International Wine Competition 2017

If you want something higher end that is also Barrel aged.. Cooper and Thief Red blend is now a listed code. #5962 Try this blend for Thanksgiving or for any other special occasion!

While other wines celebrate doing the same thing for centuries, Cooper & Thief celebrates doing things differently. Our bourbon barrel-aged wines challenges tradition, which makes for a much more interesting story.

Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving is one of those holidays that tend to revolve around family and food. While those are definitely two important components, the important (and fascinating!) facts are often overlooked. Whether you're looking for a good conversation starter or just really want to know more about Thanksgiving, these interesting facts will make you seem like the smartest person at the dinner table.

1. The first Thanksgiving was actually a three-day celebration. Today, Thanksgiving is one day — maybe two if you count Black Friday. But apparently the Pilgrims wanted to party even harder. Governor William Bradford organized the feast, inviting the Plymouth colonists' Native American allies. But it was only until the Wampanoag Indian guests came and joined the Pilgrims that they decided to extend the affair.
2. It's unclear if colonists and Native Americans ate turkey at their feast. There is truly no definitive proof that the bird we wait all year to eat was even offered to guests back in 1621. However, they did indulge in other interesting foods like lobster, seal, and swan.
3. Today, a special part of Plymouth, Massachusetts, looks just as it did in the 17th century. Modeled after an English village and a Wampanoag home site, the historic attraction Plimoth Plantation stays true to its roots. You can order tickets as early as June to attend a Thanksgiving dinner complete with numerous authentic courses, tales of colonial life, and centuries-old songs.
4. While president, Thomas Jefferson refused to declare Thanksgiving as a holiday. Presidents originally had to declare it a holiday every year. History says Jefferson refused because he strongly believed in the separation of church and state. Since Thanksgiving involved prayer, he thought making it a holiday would violate the First Amendment.
5. The woman behind "Mary Had a Little Lamb" is also responsible for Thanksgiving's recognition as a national holiday. In 1863, writer and editor Sarah Josepha Hale convinced President Abraham Lincoln to officially declare Thanksgiving a national holiday that reoccurred every year. She wrote countless articles and letters to persuade the president — and the rest is history!
6. The first Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade didn't feature any balloons. But when the parade made its big debut in 1924, it did have something that might be even cooler than balloons: animals from the Central Park Zoo.
7. But we have a Good Housekeeping illustrator to thank for the parade's first balloons. German American illustrator Tony Starg, who completed illustrations for Good Housekeeping, also had a passion for puppetry, which he used make the amazing floats come to life in 1927.

8. In 1939, Thanksgiving was celebrated on the third Thursday in November — not the fourth. You might think President Roosevelt could predict the future, as he channeled a "Black Friday" mindset in making this decision. Even though the holiday had been celebrated on the fourth Thursday since its official recognition decades before, Roosevelt bumped it up a week — offering seven more shopping days to the holiday season. Americans, to say the least, didn't love the change, so it was officially (and legally) switched back in 1942.
9. A Thanksgiving mix-up inspired the first TV dinners. In 1953, a Swanson employee accidentally ordered a colossal shipment of Thanksgiving turkeys (260 tons, to be exact). To get rid of them all, salesman Gerry Thomas came up with the idea of filling 5,000 aluminum trays with the turkey — along with cornbread dressing, gravy, peas and sweet potatoes. They were sold for 98 cents, and were a hit. Within one year, over 10 million were sold.
10. About 46 million turkeys are cooked for Thanksgiving each year. It's tradition, after all! And on Christmas, 22 million families host an encore with another turkey.
11. But not everyone eats turkey on Thanksgiving. According to the National Turkey Federation, only 88% of Americans chow down on turkey. Which begs the question, what interesting dishes are the other 12% cooking up?
12. You might consume up to 229 grams fat during the big meal. We hate to break it to you, but that's about three to four times the amount of fat you should eat in a day. You're probably also wondering how many calories you might eat — your entire Thanksgiving meal could total over 3,000 calories.
13. The turkeys pardoned by the President go on to do some pretty cool things. President George H.W. Bush pardoned the first turkey in 1989, and it's a tradition that persists today. But what happens to the lucky bird that doesn't get served with a side of mashed potatoes? In 2005 and 2009, the turkeys were sent to Disneyland and Walt Disney World parks to serve as grand marshal in their annual Thanksgiving parades. And from 2010 to 2013, they vacationed at Washington's Mount Vernon state. Not bad!
14. Only male turkeys actually gobble. You may have been taught in pre-school that a turkey goes "gobble, gobble" — but that's not entirely true. Only male turkeys, fittingly called gobblers, actually make the sound. Female turkeys cackle instead.

15. Most Americans like Thanksgiving leftovers more than the actual meal. Almost eight in 10 agree that the second helpings of stuffing, mashed potatoes, and pie beat out the big dinner itself, according to a 2015 Harris Poll.
16. The Butterball Turkey Talk Line answers almost 100,000 calls each season. Last year, the company's popular cooking crisis management team also introduced a 24-hour text message line for the lead-up into the big day.
17. There are four places in the country named Turkey. The U.S. Census has identified another four called Cranberry, and a grand total of 34 dubbed Plymouth.
18. An estimated 50 million pumpkin pies are eaten on Thanksgiving. But according to The American Pie Council, more Americans prefer apple pie overall — pumpkin comes in second place.
19. Black Friday is the busiest day of the year for plumbers. Thanks to all that food we gobble up on Thanksgiving, Roto-Rooter reports that kitchen drains, garbage disposals, and yes, toilets, require more attention the day after Thanksgiving than any other day of the year.

Talk About Drained

After a long Thanksgiving Day of eating and playing, my 3-year-old granddaughter asked her mother to carry her. When I asked if her legs were broken, Ashley said, "Yes, they're out of batteries."
